Chef Maria & Family Serving Las Vegas Since 1949

Chef Maria Perry, Executive Chef of The Bootlegger Italian Bistro and her husband Albert 'Al' Perry are iconic restaurant legends of Las Vegas. Generations of Las Vegans, celebrities, national & international visitors have patronized the family restaurants during their 73+ years in Nevada's hospitality industry. From Bugsy Seigel to Howard Hughes, Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Sammy Davis Jr., "The Rat Pack," Liberace, Elvis Presley, and today's Las Vegas Strip Headliners, Chef Maria's original recipes have established the family's restaurant as "The Place in Las Vegas Where Locals & Celebrities Gather."

"Las Vegas is bolstering its reputation as one of the world's great culinary cities not for the superstar chefs, but for its smaller "hidden gem" restaurants. The Bootlegger Bistro is a historic Las Vegas landmark. Chef Maria Perry and her husband Al Perry started the legacy in 1949 when they opened their first small restaurant in Las Vegas, serving the legends of Hollywood and Las Vegas including Howard Hughes, Frank Sinatra, Liberace, Elvis Presley and many others."
